Please join us for information on the latest energy code requirements for the HVAC industry.

Russell King, M.E. of Sierra Building Science, Inc. will be on hand to provide training and discussion. Russell has over 25 years of experience working with energy codes in the HVAC industry and he is one of the few licensed mechanical engineers that specialize in HVAC and energy design in the residential buildings.

AC Pro is excited to host this event to better serve the HVAC industry. Please contact us today.
